

The Internet is Going to the Dogs During the 1st Annual Online Dog Expo

Veterinarians, celebrities, authors, dog chefs, dog advocates, breeders, trainers, natural health practitioners, and more are all joining together to help everyone learn all about dogs in a new online platform

(PRWEB) September 20, 2006 -- Mark your calendars for the upcoming 1st Annual Online Dog Expo that will be taking place this weekend September 22-24, 2006.

The event will feature not only a diverse group of speakers, but on a variety of all dog-related topics. The event organizers, Kim Bloomer and Jeannie Thomason of the online radio show, Animal Talk Naturally, are thrilled to have been asked to organize the event for the online dogs' community of Co-op World. "When Rob Anderson, Founder of Co-op World received us as volunteers of his visionary online communities of Co-op World, we never dreamed this would be part of the outcome of his vision," commented Bloomer. "I thought it would be a great way for Kim and I to team up and teach online, manage the forums and help people with their dog care needs. Rob's vision has surpassed all of my expectations," states Thomason.

Bringing in several veterinarians including Dr. John Symes (aka Dogtor J), naturopathic veterinarian Dr. Dwayne Hubbard, Australian-based veterinarian Dr. Tom Lonsdale, and Dr. Roger de Haan (speaking with Nancy Seymour) along with celebrities such as author/actress/media coach Cynthia Brian, author/musician/artist/breeder Ron Hevener, author/speaker Nani Aki Linder along with several others well known in their field of expertise such as master dog chef Micki Voisard, My Dog Votes Barbara Haywood, Tammy Grimes of Dogs Deserve Better, Jill Lanese of American Dogs of Distinction, dog behaviorist Sue Schmidt of Equine/Canine SW, Amy Snow & Nancy Zidonis of TallGrass Institute, Jill Moss of the UK-based Bella Moss Foundation, Bill Clanton of All Pets Radio, Penny Leisch of Pets by Penny, and Charles Brettell from the KC Dog Advocacy Group, this online dog expo is certain to have something for everyone to learn!

Animal Talk Naturally will be sharing their one hour show live at the expo featuring special guest, Colleen Paige, founder of the National Dog Day Foundation. With her new book coming out June 2007, a pet-related television series, and a lot of other exciting ventures, the one hour show is sure to have a lot of fun and surprises in store for attendees and participants alike.

There will be a virtual dog show which any attendee with a dog can participate in, exhibitor booths where you can talk with the vendors, listen to their mini-seminars, network, participate in Q&As, and giveaways. All you need to attend is your $12.95 entrance ticket to all three days of the event, a computer, internet access and speakers. Go to www.virtualdogexpo.com to purchase your ticket.

For additional information or to purchase an exhibitor booth or sponsorship contact publicist Tammy Munson or phone 940.782.7340.

This event is sponsored by CoolCast Radio and I Learn Radio.

###

Contact Information

Jeannie Thomason

Animal Talk Naturally

<http://www.virtualdogexpo.com>

530 347 9211